INFORMAL SEMINARS

During July and August twelve informal seminars, each lasting about an hour and a half, were held by the cardiovascular-renal workers and trainees. The first nine comprised a systematic review of the anatomy, physiology, and pathology of the kidney and were led by Drs. Bradley, Forster, Ladd, Raisz and Sheldon. The titles of the last three were: (1) Liver Circulation by Dr. Myers, (2) Cinchoninic Acid Compounds by Dr. Marshall and (3) Neurogenic hypertension by Dr. Stanley Nowak.

Attendance averaged about 25. In addition to the workers in renal and cardiovascular physiology many other members of the Laboratory attended regularly.
